MRS. PENNYBAKER POINTS TO HOME PERILS: CATHOLIC WOMEN GIVE A CHARITY BALL

The perils that threaten the modern home, are: Rats in the hair; exaggerated coiffures; girls marrying who know nothing about home making or housekeeping; the lack of interest a father shows in the bringing up of his father shows in the bringing up of his children, leaving that to the mother; the failure of the American hunband to make his wife and daughter an allowance, they being the spenders of the income of the country; the play acting of mothers with their children instead of really giving themselves up to the enjoyment of them—children being able to detect the real thing—finally a lack of solidarity that is too offen found in the American build. often found in the American home.

Often found in the American home.

These were the points made by Mra.
Percy V. Pennybacker, president of the Woman's federation, in lecture delivered Monday night to an audience of society women which filled the First Christian church. There were a few men in attendance. Mrs. Emmonds Crocket, chairman of the conservation committee of that organization, on the same night, urged women to sacrifice their vanity and give up wearing the plumage of any birds, except that of the domestic hen, turkey or ostrich.
In the case of the former she said a placard should be worn, for feathers some times heralded as hen's feathers belonged at one time to some other bird.

Mrs. Pennybacker unqualifiedly put the ban on "rate" and urged mothers to insist on their daughters adopting a less exaggerated style of colffure, which she said, was both an offence against the laws of good taste and good against the laws of good taste and good health.

It is the duty of a mother, Mrs. Pennybacker stated, to see that her daughter, before she even contemplated marriage, was a proficient home maker and a house keeper. There were very few instances, she said, where the girl was qualified to perform these duties. The girl of today, she declared, Knowa little about sewing, cooking or anything else that would be useful around the house, and if asked about these matters would be apt to reply: "No, I do not know anything about cooking, and those sort of things, but I can learn. Besides, Harry, wants us to hoard." "Marriage is a contract." Mrs. Pennybacker said "and it is the duty of each to perform his or her part. She cited instances of the manner in which girls in foreign countries were brought up where they were made to take a therough course in domestic science. While these might never have to do the work themselves, Mrs. Pennybacker argued that they would still be more capable of managing the household.

Women Are the Spenders.

Women Age the Spenders,
The high cost of living, she declared, has come to stay. "Women of the country." she asserted, "loday are the spenders of the incomes of the country. Here the second charge she made against man, was brought in. "Why the American father is unwilling to make his wife or daughter an allowance so that she might know exactly just what she can apend, I am unable to understand. How are they to know this, unless they are given an allowance?"

Chris of today are rushing entirely ton fast into womanbood. Mrs. Pennybacker said. Hara exaggerated cofffures, silk stockings, and the disregard for appropriate dressing on given occasions she stated, was an example of this. Mrs. Pennybacker told about secting the girls on their way to the University of Texas, some of them clad in gowns and dresses which could be wern, she said, with every degree of propriety in a ball room, but were out of piace on the cumpus.

Makes Charges families Fethers.

The first charges families Fethers.

The first charge Mrs. Pennybacker made against the man of today was the lack of interest he showed in the bringing up of his own children. That she said, was one of the most vital things in either a girl's or boy's life, and the father of today neglected a paramount facts when he left such entirely to the father of today regrected a granton-duty when he left such entirely to the mother. Too many fathers were guilty of this, she declared. A girl takes her father as a measuring rod, having him for the standard she asks the man she is going to marry to be equal to. Fathers are guilty of devoting too lit-tle time and attention to their chil-dren, she said, and this should be cor-rected.

Another dancer which threatens the rected.

Another danger which threatens the home of today, the speaker declared, is the lack of solidarity. In order to rectify this, Mrs. Pennyhacker advocated the old fashioned custom of devoting a half hour in the evening to reading sloud, a pastime wherein every member of the family might take part. A girl's entrance into clubdom, she stated, served to ald the bond which should cust between a mother and a daughter. In Arizona, she stated, she daughter. In Arizona, she stated, she was delighted at a meeting of the federation to note a grandmother, mother,

Women who bear children and romain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic allments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend. It relieves the pain and discomfort cansed by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. Five different materials appear in this waist, which was shown by an exclusive Fifth avenue shop. With the exception of the black maline used on the lower part of the chemisette and as a covering for the ornamental buttons, all materials are of the same shade of light ecru.

The body, sleeves and girdle are of fine batiste, tucked, embroidered and edged with plain crocheted lace. The chemisette is of plain net tucked in graduated lines and bordered on the sides by shadow lace. A pointed peplum of this lace shows below the

She declared that they got little out of such a trip, and these trips were sometimes made at great sacrifices on the part of a father, and the mother giving up many luxuries.

Mrs. Pennybacker characterized El Paso as the climax of Texas.

The white man, according to Mrs. Crocker, can devise ways to exterminate anything be wants to. He is re-nate anything be wants to. He is responsible for the extermination of birds and the inroads that have been made on the national forests. Mrs. Crocker's address was confined to the conservation of the forests, birds, water, minerals, everything under the head of natural resources.

The speakers were introduced by Mrs. A. P. Averill, president of the El Paso Woman's club. On the platform, which had been tastily decorated with palms and flowers, in addition to Mrs. Averill, Mrs. Pennybacker and Mrs. Crocker, were: Mrs. E. Kohlberg and Mrs. W. R. Brown. Harry Rosenstein, accompanied by Mrs. J. G. McNary, as a number on the program, sang two solos.

in bonor of Mrs. G. A. Breaux, of Princeton, N. J., who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. James Marr in this city, Mrs. Marr entertained very charmingly on Monday afternoon with a bridge party. Flowers were seen in different parts of the house; in the living room jon-quils were beautiful, in the bedrooms pink roses, and the table in the dining room was especially attractive with a decorative scheme of green and lavender. The table was set with chuny; in the center stood a large sliver basket filled with lilies of the vailey and violets. The basket was tied with lavender maline bows and stood on a reflector. These decorations were supplemented with crystal sticks holding green candles and also tied with the maline bows. At other parts of the dining room were also decorations of violets and fillies of the vailey in vases. Two courses of delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. O. H. Baum won the first prize, Mrs. Frank Hunter won the second, and the consolution fell to Mrs. G. T. Newman. They were all dainty silk bags.

to have a chance to speak a piece in its own favor. The news has been sent out from Roswell and other surrounding towns that Tularosa was opposed to the coming of the Apache indians from Oklahoma. This is not true, as witness the recently drawn recolutions of the Tularosa Commercial club, addressed to the Commercial club at Roswell. Not only does Tularosa not object to the coming of the remaining members of Geronimo's band, but welcomes them as an additional source of revenue to this section and town. Thomas Daniel, of the Texime, Texas, Heraid, has bought a printing plant and will start a paper at Cloudcroft on February 14, when the first issue will come off the mountain press. It will be an independent paper, devoted to the interests of the mountain folk. A name has not yet been announced for the paper. we want all skin sufferers who have suffered for many years the tortures of disease and who have sought medical aid in vain, to read this.

We, as old established druggists of this community, wish to recommend to you a product that has given many relief and may mean the end of your agony. The product is a mild, simple wash, not a patent medicine concocied of various worthless drugs, but a scientific compound made of well known antiseptic ingredients. It is made in the D.D.D. laboratories of Chicago and is called the D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.

This is a doctor's special prescription

—one that has effected many wonderful cures.

The effect of D.D.D. is to soothe instantly, as soon as applied; then it penetrates the perse, destroys and throws off all disease germs and leaves the skin clean and healthy.

We are so confident of the manufacturers guarantee, to offer you a full-size bottle on trial. You are to judge the merits of the remedy in your own particular case. If it doesn't help you, it costs you nothing.
